The Switched-On Network Marketing

Seminar is a practical yet dynamic training experience that integrates the left and right hemispheres of the brain by using very simple body movements called “Brain Gyms.” These movements enable you to “switch on” your brain for each phase of the retailing and sponsoring parts of the process.

Switched-On Network Marketing, developed by Dr. Jerry V. Teplitz, is based on the work of Dr. Paul Dennison and his concept of Educational Kinesiology. His methods, which were originally developed as a means of correcting learning disabilities, have been found to be applicable in the sales and management processes. This work is now used internationally as a way for people to make decisive changes in their lives. This seminar applies Dr. Teplitz’ sales experience to the Network Marketing process.
